'Return Warren' Backers Plan Election Parade

Warren for Governor backers will stage a pre-election parade in downtown Torrance next Monday noon, according to Dick Miller, a co-chairman of the parade committee.

The spokesman for the bipartisan Warren for Governor Committee stated that the parade would include a Dixieland band, clowns, floats, old cars and all the excitement of an old-fashioned election campaign.

Service clubs in the community have been invited to lend their ideas to the theme, Miller said.

As the whirlwind finish of the Warren for Governor campaign draws to a close, William H. Tolson, chairman of the committee, renewed his appeal for volunteer workers on and before the day of election—November 7.

"I certainly hope that the slowness of volunteers to offer their services in this important election is not indicative of not sympathy," Tolson declared, "because we cannot afford to be chances on losing this election. We must get out every vote we can, and anyone who thinks this election can be won by staying at home has a mistaken idea. We must get out a big vote, and we must have volunteers to help us."

Tolson asked volunteers to call Torrance 3247 and leave their names. Car drivers are especially needed.

He also asked those wanting transportation to the polls to call Warren headquarters. "We hope that we can carry this area for Governor Warren, but no matter whom you vote for, get out and vote," Tolson said in his appeal.

Steelworkers Return to Jobs

With the return of workers to the Columbia Steel mills following an extended union meeting, the local plant was expected to return to full production this week.

Operations were suspended in the company's three mills last week when a union meeting was called to protest the four-day suspension of a rolling-mill worker for what the company called "a slow-down."

Denying that a slow-down was in progress, the union called a meeting Tuesday evening. The meeting stayed in session until Saturday, when the workers started returning to their jobs.

About 400 men were affected by the temporary stoppage, company officials said.

Record Attendances Mark Halloween Celebrations

A total of 3125 young Torrance residents participated in the various school, PTA and civic sponsored Halloween parties last Tuesday, according to figures compiled by the city's recreation department.

Girls Study Homemaking In Schools

Seventh and eighth grade girls from North Torrance, Perry, and Fern Elementary are studying homemaking with classes in sewing, cooking, personal relationships, and grooming.

Cooking classes have been studying how to prepare a breakfast by making applesauce, oatmeal, hot chocolate, and fancy grapefruit. Later on in the year they will cook breakfast for some of the school faculty members.

Personal relationship groups are studying table setting and etiquette at the table. They are making place mats for the decoration to be used at the breakfast. The seventh grades are hemming tea towels for the laboratory and learning how to baste, hen, mitering of corners, and a simple embroidery pattern.

Registration Passes 10,000 In Torrance

More than 10,000 voters have registered for the November 7 election in Torrance, according to County Registrar Ben Hite.

Of the 10,015 persons registered in Torrance, the party breakdown shows the Democrats lead nearly three to one.

Democrats ..... 6504
Republicans ..... 2939
Independent ..... 8
Progressives ..... 8
Miscellaneous ..... 26
Declined to State ..... 594

The registration figures mean that the population of Torrance has gone over the 25,000 mark, according to City Clerk A. B. Bartlett. Bartlett figures the population to be two and one-half times the vote registration, and he said that over the years, his theory has proven sound.
